

AMERICA'S ESSENTIAL HOSPITALS

Michelle Strenth, MBA

Government Affairs and Public Policy Director
Orlando Health

Strenth is the government affairs and public policy director for Orlando Health, a 3,300-bed hospital system in Central Florida. Strenth and her team are responsible for all federal, state, and local policy and advocacy initiatives for the hospital system. She works to ensure that Orlando Health's best interests are protected in legislative and regulatory initiatives. In addition, she ensures robust relationships are established with all elected officials, agency staff, industry associations, and community leaders.

Before joining Orlando Health, Strenth was the public affairs representative at CNL Financial Group Inc.

Strenth holds a degree in finance from East Tennessee State University and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Central Florida. She is a graduate of Leadership Florida and is on the board of the Frederick Leadership Initiative and the Children's Home Society of Central Florida. She is an active member of the Safety Net Hospital Alliance of Florida, Florida Hospital Association, and America's Essential Hospitals.
